Too many other projects to mention

I have been in the Building industry for almost 20 years. I have worked for Construction Companies for most of the time, starting as a Junior Foreman, progressed to senior foreman and eventually got promoted as Project Manager, a Position I held for 07 Years.

I resigned in 2005 to start up my own Company and am still working for myself.

Although I would love to do Bigger Projects, I do not have the capital to tender on Big projects but have been doing a lot of smaller projects on my own, as well as do sub-Contractor work for larger Companies eg. Stedone Hazycrest, MET Builders etc.

I have studied Building Management as well as Civil Engineering after I did my National Duty during 1988-1993

I am proud of my work and am meticulous in what I do.

I have a good reputation as a Builder with all of the Architects and Engineers I have done work for.

I would like to be given a chance with your Company to prove that we are the best Builders in our area.
