OUR MISSION

To offer a world-class Health & Safety and Basic Life Support emergency care training, equipment and management service.

HEALTH & SAFETY TRAINING

Our training courses are aimed at assisting organisations and households to establish a prepared environment in which, should an emergency occur, clients are able to treat and manage an emergency confidently and effectively.

The Occupational Health & Safety Act requires companies to train employees in First Aid, Firefighting, Evacuation Planning, H&S Representative and various other legal-compliance courses. Our training courses assist in achieving OHS Act compliance.

HEALTH & SAFETY EQUIPMENT SUPPLY & SERVICING

It is important to ensure that the work and home environment is stocked with the correct emergency equipment. Should an emergency occur, the trained H&S personnel will then have the appropriate equipment available to manage the emergency.

We provide a full range of common emergency-station equipment items. One of our H&S Specialists will visit your site to assist in determining your emergency and legal equipment requirements.

FIRE EQUIPMENT SERVICING DIVISION

Fire extinguishers and hose reels are a first line of defence against fires and it is imperative - and law - that these products are readily available and in sound operating condition.

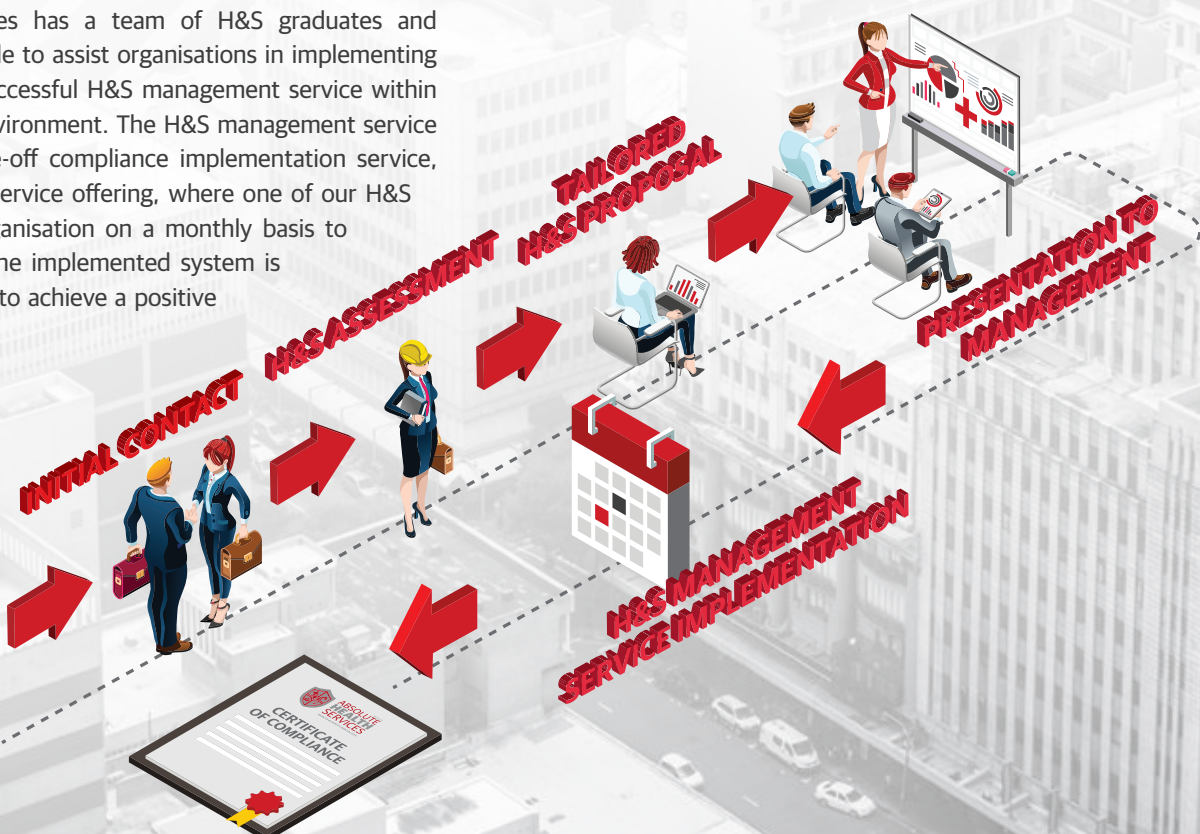

In order to provide a holistic H&S service to all our clients, we have embarked on this exciting "Fire Equipment Servicing Division" initiative. The end product is a state-of-the-art servicing division with a permanent servicing workshop in Johannesburg, which caters for our national servicing and SAQCC training needs.

In addition, we have a uniquely designed mobile workshop that gives our technicians national access to onsite servicing at our client's premises for extended periods.

HEALTH & SAFETY MANAGEMENT SERVICE

Absolute Health Services has a team of H&S graduates and practitioners that are able to assist organisations in implementing a holistic, logical and successful H&S management service within their unique working environment. The H&S management service consist of either a once-off compliance implementation service, or a monthly recurring service offering, where one of our H&S Specialists visits the organisation on a monthly basis to assist in ensuring that the implemented system is maintained and tailored to achieve a positive H&S-compliance status.
