Collagen makes up over 70% of protein found in your skin. It keeps skin plumped and resilient, youthful & wrinkle-free

Approximately 1% of the skin's collagen reserves are lost every year from 25 onwards.

Using products that stimulate collagen production can slow skin ageing down

Why Nucarro?

EXTRINSIC AGEING

- Collagen production in the extracellular matrix slows down
- Aproximately 1% of the skin's collagen reserves are lost every year from 25 onwards.
- Skin regeneration slows down by about 40% after 50, leading to visible signs of aging.
- Fine lines, wrinkles ,dryness loss of volume and firmness.

Our skin is a window to our inner health and wellness. Youthful-looking skin comes from taking care of it with the right products and a consistent skin care routine.

PIGMENTATION

- Pigmentation and unevenness increase gradually with age. Spots and inhomogeneity are not only the prerogative of mature skin characterized by lentigo senile, they can appear even at a young age.
- Effectively ethnical origin, cumulative UV exposure, hormonal unbalances such as pre- or post-pregnancy, environmental factors like pollution and also damage to the skin integrity caused by acne marks, could lead to the early appearance of persistent pigimentary disorders

INTRINSIC AGEING

- The skin reflects the accumulated damage induced by environmental conditions and neglect.
- Deep wrinkles, pigmentation and rough texture

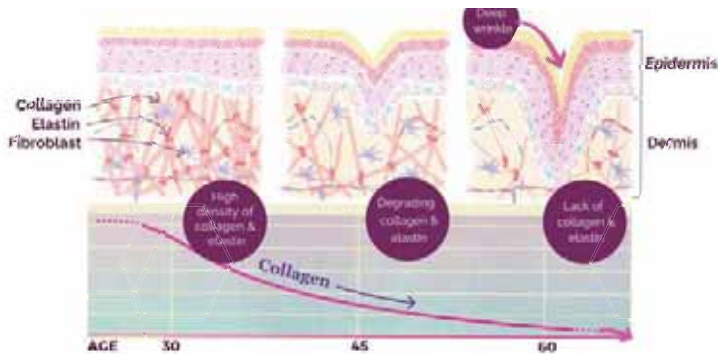

SUN DAMAGE

- Infrared (IRA) is a long wavelength with low energy that penetrates deep into the skin and induces a significant production of free radicals in the dermis to diminish the skin's antioxidant capacity.
- High Energy Visible Light (HEV) Common sources of HEV include computer, television , phone and ipad screens. It penetrates the lower layers of the skin and influence skin conditions to cause premature skin aging.

Our skin is a window to our inner health and wellness. Youthful-looking skin comes from taking care of it with the right products and a consistent skin care routine.

Let's talk about aging

Skin ages chronologically and more and more visible signs of aging will become visible over time. The accumulated damage induced by environmental conditions and neglect will be reflected

20's

- Stress, fatigue and an unbalanced lifestyle can affect skin quality causing disorders on the skin surface.
- Uneven skin tone and pigmentation can be caused by sun damage, contraceptives and pregnancy
- This is the time to establish good skin care habits that will set you up for life

Prevention is better than cure.

30's

- The skin produces less collagen that results in a loss of elasticity and suppleness
- Fine lines and wrinkles start to appear.
- This is the time for skin care to become more focused on specific concerns, anti-ageing ingredients and multi-tasking treatments that can target various concerns in one go.

40's

- Expression wrinkles that are caused by repetitive contraction of facial muscles appear
- The skin's metabolic functions slows down
- A loss of elasticity and the effects of gravity lead to slackening of the skin.

50's and Up

- During menopause less oestrogen is produced and over the 5 years that follow, skin can lose up to 30% of its substance, causing the skin to sag and become dry
- Skin regeneration slows down by about 40% after 50
- The skin becomes dull and age spots appear

Femininity does not end with menopause

VITAMIN C Tetrahexyldecyl ascorbate

Highly effective, lipid soluble & stable with less irritation
A Powerful anti-aging ingredient that treats dark marks as well and prevents UVB damage

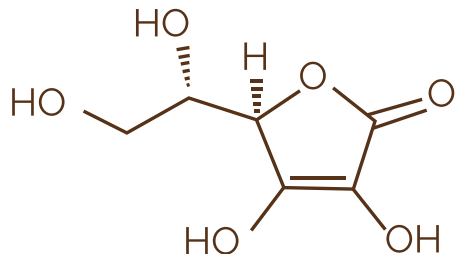

Vitamin C is one of the most powerful anti-ageing ingredients. It's an antioxidant that protects collagen, prevents free radical damage, lightens discolorations, brightens the skin and reduces wrinkles!

The problem with most topical forms of vitamin C is that they are water soluble and can't penetrate through the lipid-rich skin barrier to reach the deeper layers of the skin where it can have maximal benefits.

Tetrahexyldecyl ascorbate is lipid soluble and is able to successfully penetrate the epidermis and move to the layer underneath called the dermis. It's in the dermis that collagen, a protein that gives skin its youthful firmness and ability to resist wrinkles, is made. It is also less irritating than water soluble Vitamin C

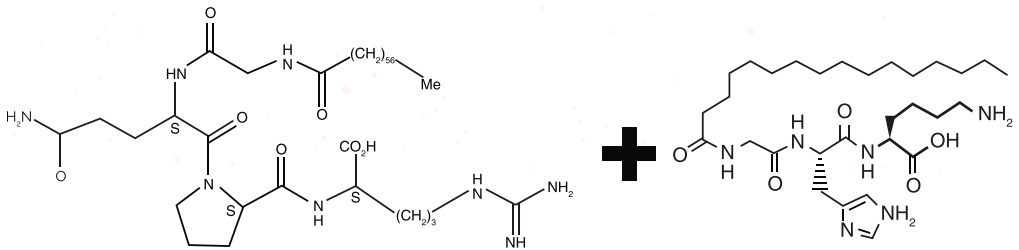

Glowing skin is a result of proper skincare and means you can wear less makeup letting your skin shine through.

The story of how Nucarro was developed starts from a somewhat unexpected place – a chronic pain clinic.

Dr Russell Raath has been in the medical industry for over 40 years and for the last 10 years his primary focus has been on chronic pain management.

While using a topical cream for chronic pain that he had formulated, his patients noted the remarkable effects the cream had on the appearance of the skin on their affected areas. Skin appeared smoother, radiant and more youthful.

By taking a closer look at the aesthetic properties of the ingredients, Dr Raath saw an opportunity to create a unique skincare range that had already been proven to deliver remarkable results
